

A Message from Ricardo to Prospect Customers

Preface

Many thanks for visiting my website. It's been almost 2 years since I decided to offer my services as a sexual therapist/counselor for first timers, confused, bi and gay men and I think is a good time to look back and to see what I achieved with this.

The motivation that makes me passionate about it goes further than a financial reward as many people may think. I am a professional guy with 2 careers and many other hobbies and interests that keep me busy and bring me extra income. The idea for me is to help people to find their way in terms of sexual orientation and also to relief bisexual men providing a good company, conversation and a passionate time. Sometimes I cater for gay men but only for the discreet ones not for the ones who are out on the scene as I identify them as high risk people in terms of sexual transmitted diseases.

The Gay Scene

I been to the scene few years ago and I know how it looks like. In general terms, people who are unhappy and trying to find relief taking drugs and are involve into unsafe activities. I found myself that I am not attracted to that scene at all. On the other hand, I am not into picking up strangers on bars as I am always concerning about my safety.

Talking about the internet dating, I have more than 7 years and it was enough time to understand what's going on there. I still have profiles on gay places but more for educational reasons rather than causal sex. I meet nice people from time to time over the net for a coffee or a drink. I am very cautious as people tend to lie a lot there in regards to their body appearance, masculinity, HIV status, age, etc. I get into the conclusion if you are a decent man who looks after yourself and you consider being selective, the internet may not be a good place to meet people. Ninety-five percent are promiscuous people who treat others as disposable material, very sad but true.

The gay saunas were interesting places few years ago for me but not anymore. Although I still go there from time to time but hardly ever touch anyone there. I have the ability to feel people's energy and so far what I found there is a bunch of drug users and promiscuous people who can have sex with 4 guys in one night. Yes is not an exaggeration, that's the common behavior for sauna lovers. Of course there are exceptions but not many.

I consider myself non-scene. I used to go to Oxford St maybe 3-4 times a year but not anyone. I never been into a dance party and I have no desire to go there, that type of music, environment and people does not tell anything about my life.

Prostitute or sexual therapist?

I don't consider myself a prostitute. I select my potential customers via on-line booking form you need to fill up. The idea that is behind this is the fact I do enjoy the time I spend with my clients as much as they do. I call myself an escort for Search Engine Optimisation reasons and for people to find me on the net.

Sometimes I see 2-3 guys per week for counseling and 1-2 per week for sexual exploration/therapy. That's why I am always passionate and with lot of energy to explore and please my customers. This makes a huge difference with the callboys they advertise 24/7 availability and have sex few times every day. They usually take drugs to cope with that lifestyle and the lack of passion and many of them are distant and never connect on an emotional/physical level with their clients. Nothing against these guys but each to their own.

My clients

In these two years I met nice people and I had awesome times with them. I had only 2 bad experiences, one was a guy who was high and I said NO, and the second one was a guy after the encounter asking for a discount. All of the rest were great people, usually executives on suits in the CBD, well groomed, educated, friendly, polite, and conversational and I am proud to say I connected with them on an emotional level and physical level. Many of them I see from time to time when they visit Sydney. We go for dinner together, drinks and then the rest. I also have few guys from AFL, Union, Rugby league and athletes.

My sexual preference for men can include white men, Mediterranean and Latinos. Ages goes from 19 to probably 60 years old. Body type from slim to average, solid, cubs and slightly overweight guys. The main thing that turn me on is masculine men eager to learn and able to kiss.

I have many successful stories I want to share with you but probably I will need few pages. What I can tell you is that many guys found their sexual orientation coming to my sessions. Few of them became gay, others founded themselves as bisexual and many other confirmed to be straight, although they enjoyed the time we spent together. I believe we live once and it takes courage to let it go your sexual desires, don't wait to much as there is a lot to enjoy about M2M encounters.

After sexual encounters some men need few weeks or months to understand what it happened. I will always advice to book an appointment only if you are 100% sure about it. I will also encourage talking to your girlfriend or wife if applicable about your sexual exploration. In many cases women are open and it won't be a drama.

If you want to read testimonials of my clients, please visit the review page and find out if you are likely to enjoy our time together.

The advantage of my services

As far as I know, checking on the net, I am the only one who provides this type of service. For sure in the future there will be lot of people that may copy my idea. Talking about the real advantage of my services I can summarise as follow:

- Professional experience in M2M sexual encounters. I gather the knowledge through my past relationships and also reading many books, articles and watching educational videos.
- Discretion assured. None of my friends knows about this as I keep myself private. I understand your privacy as I need to be discreet as well.
- I am proudly to be a drug/STD free and having a healthy lifestyle.
- I am not judgmental and my mission is to help you out to find who you are in sexual terms.
- I am a very friendly person and I know how to make you feel relax and comfortable with my company. This helps to relax and create a romance environment which makes our experience more intense and maybe unforgettable for many men.
- I always respect the limits my clients put. This is extremely important to make the experience enjoyable.
- If you want to join the M2M induction sessions you will have the opportunity to improve your sexual life reviewing sex on a technical/practical base, giving you lot of tips to make you become a great lover in bed. This can be applicable for MF encounters.

Summary

The pleasure of M2M sex is an amazing experience that even straight guys should give themselves an opportunity to try. My services are available to all the guys who need counseling and sexual coach. I will ask you to be genuine, discreet, clean and to be eager to explore.

Please bear in mind I am not a prostitute, so it is important for me to receive your request by booking form. Please include as much details you want to share. No booking form, no appointment, sorry.

I am 100% honest and genuine, all what I wrote on my website is true. I am expecting to be the same. Please do not lie on the booking form as may lead to a cancellation of the appointment.

Adios,
Ricardo Juarez
